Uncle Sam Wants You

Winter, 1946--Abe goes to Frankfort and applies for immigration status for himself, his three sisters, and several others. He is successful in getting the appropriate documents. Abe and his sisters did not need a sponsor since President Truman was allowing 100,000 refugees into the US as a humanitarian gesture.

Abe's Certificate of Identity, with his signature.

June 24, 1946--Abe and sisters Sala, Ruthie, and Rachel arrive in New York via the SS Marine Perch. He immediately goes to work and to night school. During this time, Abe is mesmerized by the advertisements about Hollywood and the stars who live there.

June, 1947--Abe did not like NYC, so he decides to go to Los Angeles. He books a Greyhound ticket to California, with only $30 in his pocket. Once arriving in California, he sees an ad by Workmen's Circle for those wanting to work. He is hired by a Jewish man to work in a wholesale shoe store. Since he is only 17, he goes to work and attends night school.

Spring, 1948--He meets a fellow Holocaust Survivor, Sam Hilton from Warsaw, and one day notices an (Uncle Sam) Wants You sign. Abe and Sam discuss where else could they get food, clothing, an education, and get paid for it.

Abe stationed at Shaw Air Force Base in Sumter, SC sometime between 1949-1950.

April 1, 1948--Abe joins the Air Force and is eventually stationed in Sumter, South Carolina at Shaw Air Force Base.

Fall, 1948--Abe attends Friday evening Sabbath services at the Sumter Temple Sinai. Abe is spotted there by Mrs. Max Edelsburg. She encourages her unmarried daughter, Rhea, to visit Sumter to meet Abe. Rhea's family is also from Poland, but immigrated prior to WWII.

December 31, 1950--Abe and Rhea are married by Rabbi Aaron Levy and have 3 children, Donna (1951), Nat (1954) and Sharon (1961).

1952--Abe is honorably discharged on March 31 and begins working for Max Edelsburg in the Sumter family business called Jack's Department Store, later called Jack's Shoes. He soon becomes a partner and opens additional stores in Columbia, Charleston and Florence. Abe works in this business for almost 60 years.
